Preparing for a Lively Campaign in New York.

Chicago Grain Market.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The past week's grain markets on change have been exciting, unsettled, irregular and wildly fluctuating with a strong tendency to rise. Wheat, as usual, has led the way and the minor cereals have followed in its wake. Several failures have occurred, but for very small amounts. The fact is that the heavy operators who bought at 85 to 90 sold out 95 to 109 and went short at the latter figure, so that when the rise came they alone lost. It was their manipulation that caused the heavy break of Wednesday and Thursday. When the break came they filled in quickly and it is believed are now securely on the long side.

The provision men have been steadily opposing the higher prices that now seem likely to rule, the secret of their opposition being a fear that with hogs at present prices or at higher prices in keeping with grain, they may be compelled to do what they have occasionally been obliged to do heretofore, buy their hogs at high prices in the winter and sell their product at low prices in spring and summer.

Opinion of Deadwood.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Speaking of the Deadwood fire, the Tribune says The calamity is more to be regretted because the city had attained an exceptional degree of civilization for a mining town. The Tribune readers will remember a recent account given by its correspondent of the remarkable progress made in the Black Hills, and especially in Deadwood, in the arts of life, educational facilities, etc. It was his judgment that the whole region looked as if it had been ten years instead of three. It is to be hoped this blow, heavy as it is, will not much retard the growth and prosperity of the city.

The Sun says for a town of its years, Deadwood was precociously wicked. Deadwooders drank whiskey in inordinate quantities and played cards for money. Now their homes and stores are in ashes. Old fashioned preachers who would have put this and that together, would have discovered the palpable relation of cause and effect, and announced confidently from the pulpit that the fire was a divine judgment.

Tilden's Income Suit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—In the suit brought by the United States against Samuel J. Tilden to recover income taxes, a motion was made in the United States District Court a few days ago by Tilden's counsel for a bill of particulars. Judge Choate has made an elaborate decision in the matter, and says the motion must be denied upon well settled rules of practice relating to the matter of bills of particulars. After alluding to the general objects of bills of particulars, he says the Government is not presumed to know what any man's income is, still less the several parts of which it is made up. Every man is presumed to know these things with entire certainty. While officers of the Government may have such creditable information as to a tax payer's income as makes it proper to bring suit and recover an excess of income tax due above that paid, that information may not be so specific or detailed as to enable a District Attorney in advance of a trial to set forth items.

Active Campaign.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Herald says the Republican county and State committees work together in the greatest harmony, and there appears to be no dissensions whatever in the camp. The latter body have made preliminary arrangements for many meetings to take place through the State, and more particularly in this city. It is intended to organize such demonstrations in New York as were never seen before. If Grant should come East this far, a monster reception is on the tapis, and he will be asked to lend his aid to the Cornell campaign, as far as practicable. Blaine will be requested to stump the State, and invitations of similar character will be extended to Chandler, Garfield, Hawley, Gen Adam King, of Maryland, and Grow, of Pennsylvania. The last named gentleman is also to help the Foster cause in Ohio.

Running Cars by Compressed Air.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Several prominent persons, among them W. F. Lent, of San Francisco, yesterday made examination of the pneumatic street cars run by compressed air, on the upper division of the Second Avenue railroad. These cars are now running on schedule time, and from the impressions of the gentlemen present, the motive power is there and will be utilized. A car can be sent by compressed air over a route sixteen miles. The air is compressed at the depot, and placed in reservoirs on the cars out of sight. The cost of the power is only 1½c per mile, against 6¼c. per car per mile by horse power. Its success has been proven on the Second Avenue road.

Fever Abating.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A Memphis special says the Howards sent out only ten nurses today and only four physicians are on duty. Owing to the decrease of yellow fever throughout the city, business is already picking up and many people from the country are seen daily in the streets. Under the recent injunction on State Board of Health officials, seed and lint cotton are coming in freely and this puts money in circulation. We are reaching the beginning of the end of the epidemic, at least physicians and others so feel, and this causes our pent up people to feel encouraged, and they speak hopefully.

Growling at Grant.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Sun has a characteristic snarl at Grant for not going into retirement as its editor did some years ago from the War Department. It says instead of taking a short road to the privacy and rest for which his soul yearns, Grant proposes to subject himself to the tortures of publicity for several months longer. He accepts the programme, which the flunkies and intriguers who surround him have arranged. He is not a man to sacrifice his own comfort, to the gratification of any number of gaping fools. If he really desired to go into retirement he would go.

Whiskey Seizure.

NASHVILLE, Sept 27.—The revenue officers to-day seized 2,100 gallons of whiskey, valued at $2,500, from the distillery of H. H. Shufeldt, Chicago, on account of failure to comply with the law concerning marks and brands. Several hundred barrels of the same grade have been sold in the Southern markets. The officers in this district have been waiting for orders before making the seizures on account of conflicting opinions as to its liability to forfeiture.

Hayes' Visit to Kansas.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 27.—Governor St John and other State officers will accompany the President to Leavenworth to-day, and turn the party over to Gen Pope, whose guests they will be. They will be entertained there over night, and on Sunday afternoon will start for Springfield, Ills., arriving at that point on Monday morning.

This morning the President was tendered a reception at the Capitol building by the Governor and State officers. The President and Mrs. Hayes were the guests of Judge McFarland, last night, who are Ohio people and old acquaintances. At the reception this morning a large number of ladies and gentlemen were presented to the President and to Gen. Sherman. The utmost good feeling prevailed. The reception of the Executive party at Topeka is one of the notable of the trip, and afforded him great pleasure and satisfaction.

After the President's reception, he made a speech to a vast crowd on the usual topics.

Gen Sherman then spoke, expressing the greatest satisfaction with the scenes he had witnessed in Kansas. After lunch the party started for Lawrence.

A Residence for Grant.

NEW YORK, Sept 27.—The Tribune says a report is in circulation that the mansion in West Brighton, Staten Island, belonging to the late Wm. T. Garner, was not sold at auction a few months ago, because negotiations were pending between the executors of the estate and a representative of Grant, with a view of securing the property for his country seat upon his return from abroad. The house is a square block, French granite, and cost $100,000.

One of the Free Lunchers.

NEW YORK, Sept 27.—Hon. M P. Ocar, of Charleston, member of the House labor committee, was interviewed by the Tribune. He says "I am of the opinion there is more depression in California at present than since the discovery of gold there. The State is just beginning to feel the wane of depression which has swept over the East. There is more depression, however, at the South in business than in any other section of the country not excepting California.

Bicycles in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Wentworth Rawlins, the bicycle man, arrived from New York to-day, and was banqueted by the bicycle manufacturers to-night.

Perkins Bass, a prominent lawyer, lately returned from Europe, reports having had a conversation in Strasburg with the late president of the defunct Savings Bank, D. D. Spencer, who was living there in poverty, and is anxious to return and vindicate himself, as he claims that he can do so.

Strike Circular.

ST LOUIS, Sept 27.—A private circular has been issued here by the Trades' Assembly, and sent to all assemblies of the United States and British North America, setting forth a project for a general strike of all trades, the time to be determined by the Trades' Assemblies, and to take united action for the adoption and enforcement of the eight hour system, abolition of the truck system and child labor.

Jackson's Monument.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va, Sept. 27.—To day a large boulder of white quartz rock from near the Wilderness, was placed to mark the spot where Stonewall Jackson received his death wound. A simple inscription will be put on the stone. Rev. B F Lacy, of Missouri, Jackson's chaplain, originated the project.

Fred. Grant.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Sept 27.—Col. Fred D Grant arrived this evening from San Francisco over the Union Pacific road. He took a special car provided for him and left over the C, B & Q road for Chicago. He says his father will come East about the last of October or first of November.

Gloucester Fire.

GLOUCESTER, Mass, Sept 27.—Carter's oil clothing manufactory, the Eureka House and several buildings occupied mainly as stores, burned today. The Gloucester National Bank block, and a number of other structures, are more or less damaged.

Killed by a Witness.

PALESTINE, Texas, Sept 27.—James Quisenburg, lately acquitted of the charge of murdering Dr Grayson and wife last year, was to-day shot dead by C. C. Rogers, City Marshal, a witness in the trial. Quisenburg repeatedly threatened Rogers' life.

Railroad Collision.

READING, Pa, Sept. 27.—A freight train ran into a gravel train on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad during a fog, and Isaac Young, conductor, and Alexander Young, train hand, were killed. David Dairdhoser was seriously injured.

A Texas Blaze.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept 27.—A special to the news from Dallas says Five of the largest stores in the place burned to day. Two others were pulled down to stop the spread of the flames. Loss, $100,000, insured.

Boat Race.

WHEELING, W Va, Sept. 27.—The three mile scull race between George W Weragerber of St. Louis, and Louis Felsing, for $2,000, occurred to-day, and was a grand affair. The former won by a boat's length.

Drawn Game.

DETROIT, Sept. 27.—The cricketers had a draw game, and the English eleven refusing to remain over, went to Niagara Falls. They play in Syracuse on Monday.

Sentenced for Seven Years.

ALBANY, Sept 27.—Rainel, convicted of attempting to blow up the Hudson river steamer Drew, has been sentenced to seven years' imprisonment.

Russian Loans.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—It is reported from several quarters that the new Russian 4½ per cent loan of $15,000,000 or $20,000,000, is about to be offered in London, the money to be for the construction of railways. It is also intimated that another and larger loan on account of war material, may be expected.

English Gold.

LONDON, Sept 27.—Seventy thousand pounds of gold were purchased in open market on Friday, for the United States, and it is expected £200,000 of gold arrived from Australia will also go there.

Bicyclists.

LONDON, Sept 27.—The bicyclists, Ferront, Cann, Keen and Stanton, who are engaged to visit America, go on first to Boston, and after a tour of the principal cities, visit San Francisco.

TURKEY.

Turkish Assassination.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—The person recently arrested for attempting to enter the palace, has been secretly assassinated, it is believed, at the instigation of an influential person, who, feeling his own position was insecure, believed the only means of averting his dismissal was by awakening the Sultan's fears of assassination, and fearing that the person arrested might make disclosures, bribed the soldiers to assassinate him.

Adrianople Refugees.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 27.—The Porte has ordered the Governor of Adrianople to arrest the departure into Eastern Roumelia of the refugees collected there.

INDIA.

The British Advance.

SIMLA, Sept. 27.—Gen. Baker's brigade will to-day proceed to Seargun Shahe, where it will be joined by the force under Sir Frederick Roberts, the last detachment of which leaves Ali Kheyl on Monday for Cabul. The Ameer's officials have been instructed not to oppose the advance of British troops. A small body of Mohammedans assembled near Lalpura, but were dispersed.

Six fatal cases of cholera have occurred in the Ninth regiment. The Simla royal artillery, and Eighty first regiment is also afflicted by the same disease.

SOUTH AMERICA.

South American War.

TACNA, Bolivia, Aug. 31, via Lisbon, Sept. 27.—The vanguard of General Campero's army has forced the Chilians to evacuate Calama, and has defeated the corps of Colonel Ruiz. The Peruvian and Bolivian armies are marching on San Pedro di Atacama.

BELGIUM.

Afloat Again.

ANTWERP, Sept 27.—The steamship Deruyter, from New York, ashore in Scheldt, has floated, apparently uninjured.

THE CLOSING TRAMP.

Johnny Bull's Legs Carry Him Through to Victory.

Great Demonstrations of Joy Over the Week's Tramp.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—All the pedestrians who last night were in the contest for the Astley belt and gate money, were on the track early and often this morning. The following is the record at nine o'clock. Rowell, 485; Merritt, 479; Hazael, 462; Hart, 442, Guyon, 440, Weston, 421; Ennis, 404, Krohne, 404, Taylor, 220.

Guyon and Hart are having a struggle for the fourth place, and Ennis and Krohne for the sixth. Hart and Ennis each had a mile advantage at 1 o'clock. Rowell finished his 500th mile to the music of God Save the Queen and a storm of applause.

At 8 o'clock the score stood Rowell, 507, Merritt, 485, Hazael, 479; Hart, 459; Guyon, 456; Weston, 442; Ennis, 436, Krohne, 425; Taylor, 228.

The position which those engaged in the contest now hold is regarded as settling the place of each at the finish to-night. No one here expects a change and the race is practically finished.

Rowell completed 525 miles at 7:12—55 on a run. He was joined in the race by Hart, the colored boy, who challenged pace. The moment these started, Hazael and Merritt followed, and an exciting race ensued. Side by side went Rowell and Hart at a 10 mile gait, every moment increasing, and immediately behind, and trying to catch up, were Hazael and Merritt, side by side. Around the track almost coupled, went the four for several laps, and one continuous yell went up from the crowd. O'Leary called off Hart and then Merritt dropped into a walk. Rowell and Hazael soon afterwards abandoned the run. The race was terribly hot and perspiration poured from all.

Score at 8 o'clock—Weston, 455, Rowell, 528; Hazael, 499, Guyon, 470, Ennis, 444; Merritt, 511; Hart, 477; Krohne, 443; Taylor, 244. So sure were the bookmakers at 8 o'clock that Rowell, Merritt and Hazael would hold the first three positions, that they paid their tickets in advance on five per cent. discount. Hazael turned his 500th mile at 8:07, and a storm of applause announced the posting of the figures.

THE CLOSING SCENES.

At 8:15 Rowell walked around, carrying the American flag, and Merritt ran around with the Union Jack, the band playing alternately Yankee Doodle and God Save the Queen, and the dense crowd cheering, whistling and clapping hands. The frenzy seized the vast mass of people in the streets, and their roar filled the Garden, where the cheering was renewed. A grand floral piece, a shield, surmounted by waving corn, was presented to Rowell. It bore the inscription: "To Charles Rowell by the Albion Society." It was carried in front of Rowell for several laps. In a few moments the uproar seemed redoubled, when Merritt, Hazael and Rowell, hand in hand, and Merritt the central figure, walked around the track, they stopped opposite the time keepers' stand, and Rowell said:

GENTLEMEN—I thank you. I am through.

The three men retired from the track and the match at 8:25, their scores being: Rowell, 530 miles; Merritt, 515; Hazael, 500 miles and one lap.

Hart, Guyon, Ennis, Krohne and Taylor remained on the track. Weston sought his tent between six and seven only to reappear, should Ennis or Krohne threaten to displace him from the sixth position. Ennis finished on a run his 450th mile at 9:24, and was greeted with storms of applause. Taylor finished his 250th mile at 9:23 at a tremendous speed, and was presented with a pie. Guyon left the track at 9:13 and soon afterwards was taken to his hotel where a hot bath was given him, which assuaged the pain in his legs and feet, and he was then put to bed. Krohne finished his 450th mile at 9:50 at a rattling rate, winning a burst of applause. Hart went off finally at 9:50. Ennis retired at 9:15, Krohne added a lap to his 450 miles and quit. Taylor was satisfied with his 250 miles.

The band played "Home, Sweet Home," and every hole in the walls became an exit, and thus was terminated what was characterized by the spectator who paid his dollar too late to see the show, organized in London and consummated in New York.

THE GRAND INTERNATIONAL HUMBUG,

The official score is as follows. Rowell, 530 miles, Merritt, 515; Hazael, 500⅛; Hart, 482¼; Guyon, 471¾; Weston, 455; Ennis, 450¼; Krohne, 450⅛; Taylor, 250⅛.

Great crowds followed the pedestrians as they were driven in coaches to their respective hotels. Rowell was serenaded, and bowed his acknowledgments.

ATTACHED.

A Brooklyn Judge has attached Weston's share of the gate money. The attachment was obtained in connection with the suit of David E. Saunders, Jr., against Edward Payson Weston. The plaintiff is said to be a resident of Salem, Mass.

HONOR TO THE CHIEF.

The Silent Man the Man of the Hour at the Bay.

One Week of Rejoicing, and Another in Prospect.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Pine street, between Sansome and Montgomery this morning was thronged with people in anticipation of a visit from General Grant to the Stock Exchange Hall, and the lobby of the building was densely crowded, the lane to the entrance being kept open by the police. The Board room, which is a work of art itself, was tastefully decorated with flowers, ferns and smilax. Business opened at the usual hour, and soon after the General and party arrived. As he made his appearance on the floor, accompanied by the President of the Exchange, ex-Governor Lowe, young Ulysses and a few others, the brokers greeted him with tumultuous cheers, the ladies who crowded the galleries, joining in the applause. Mr Peckham introduced the guests briefly, and after another round of cheers, the General and party were conducted to a seat on the right of the caller's desk, under the drapery of silken flags. The call then continued, but the market was rather dull and weak, and the brokers were unable to treat their visitors to a lively specimen of their style of business. At 11:30 the guests withdrew, the crowd, which lingered outside, cheering as the party drove off.

GRANT'S PROGRAMME.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—After leaving the Stock Board to-day, Gen Grant lunched in the parlor of the Anglo California Bank, thence proceeded to the Mint, the officers of which showed the party through the various departments.

This evening he will for the first time see Pinafore at the California Theatre, after which he will attend the grand camp fire of veterans. To-morrow he will dine with J. C. Flood and on Monday with D. O. Mills, at Millbrae. During the day Monday he will attend a reception by the public school children at Woodward's Gardens. Preparations are being carefully made to ensure the success of the affair, and the school board estimate there will be from 20,000 to 25,000 children present.

Denis Kearney again sent up his card to the General to-day, who, as before, declined to see him. Some curiosity is expressed as to what Kearney will have to say at the Sand Lot to-morrow.

GRANT AT THE THEATRE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—General Grant's presence at the California Theatre this evening had again the effect to pack the house. The General arrived before the performance commenced, and was received by the audience with the same demonstrations of regard that have met him wherever he has made his appearance. The curtain rose a quarter of an hour before the usual time to enable the General, who intends for once to sit out the performance, to afterward visit the Camp Fire at the Pavilion. Great amusement and amusement was created by the Ruler of the Queen's Navee interpolating in his role a number of stanzas hitting off the guest of the evening.

DEADWOOD'S BIG BLAZE.

The Loss Estimated by the Citizens at $3,000,000.

The City Again Rapidly Rising from the Ashes.

DEADWOOD, Sept. 27.—The city has presented an unusually active appearance to-day, the flames and smoke having cleared away enough to allow the mass of ruins to be cleared away and the erection of tents and small wooden shanties, of which there have been from 75 to 100 put up. Almost every class of business is represented on Main and Sherman streets, and all are having an immense rush of custom, altho' all prices have not advanced except in a very few instances where the demand for some articles was greater than the supply, the advance has been slight. All the daily papers are issuing on small sheets, being struck at Lead City and Central. They contain little else than fire news.

Lumber is being hauled in by every available team in this vicinity, and is bringing $10 per thousand. The mills are running night and day, but not enough can be brought in to supply the enormous demand. Some had shanties erected within five hours from the time of the outbreak.

All day telegrams have been pouring in, offering stocks of goods, money, clothing, food, etc., but as yet nothing but merchandise has been accepted. No relief committee has been organized, and probably there will be none. People who are bankrupt and homeless do not want to accept aid from the outside world. Merchants and others are very generous, able and willing to stand their share of the burden.

At a meeting of the members of the bar this afternoon, a resolution was passed asking Judge Moody to remain here instead of attending the October term of the Supreme Court at Yankton, so that in case his services are needed, they would be at hand. The Supreme Court will probably adjourn a few weeks until the city is partially rebuilt and quiet restored.

The losses in addition to those telegraphed last night, are the Northwestern Stage Company, $5,000, Russell's billiard hall, $7,000, Wm Brown's cigar, tobacco and fire arms, $6,000; Black Hills Brewery, $3,000, Gib, Stone & Co., furniture, $7,500, Bella Union Theatre, $5,000; Gem Theatre, $12,000; J. A. Mecker, $3,000, F. Zipp, boots and shoes, $10,000, Jacob Wertemer, $12,000, M. H. Burns, lawyer, $5,000.

Competent judges place the total loss at fully $3,000,000, although some time must elapse before the exact figures can be obtained. The bank vaults were opened to-day and were found intact. The chronometers on the time locks are still running. Both banks will open on Monday.

At Memphis there were four cases and four deaths yesterday.

WASHINGTON.

The Widow Oliver Appears as a Pauper in the Capital.

A Brother of Senator Blaine Kicked Out of Office.

Another Increase of the New York Bullion Fund.

Want More Pap.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A Convention of Southern Republicans, who desire more substantial recognition from the Administration and from the Republican party of the North, met in this city last evening. The session continued until after midnight. There were about forty gentlemen present, a number of them being office holders in Washington. These gentlemen represented that the number of Federal offices filled by Southern Republicans is ridiculously disproportioned to the strength and services of the party in the South. It was declared in speeches that the impression so prevalent in the North, that men of intelligence cannot be found in sufficient numbers to fill the offices which by any fair apportionment would fall to that section, is entirely erroneous, and any action based in part upon that impression is doing incalculable damage to the party. It was asserted that not only are Southern Republicans not fairly treated in the apportionment of offices at the Capital, but in many cases Northern men are sent South to fill important offices, which might well be filled by native Southern Republicans. The tone of some of the speeches was decidedly bitter, but it was admitted that no greater cause of complaint exists against the present than against the preceding Administration. The convention adjourned to meet at an early day.

Blaine's Brother Kicked Out.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Robt. G. Blaine, the Senator's brother, who has been assistant keeper of the Senate document room for several years, was removed by Sergeant-at-Arms Bright to-day. Blaine had been given leave of absence until October 10th, and he was dismissed without previous notification of any kind. No complaint was made against the manner in which he performed his duties. The removal was undoubtedly made to make place for some Democratic office seeker.

Another Increase of the Bullion Fund.

WASHINGTON, Sept 27.—In order to meet the demand for exchange of foreign gold coin and bullion for American gold, the Treasurer of the United States has further increased the bullion fund of the New York assay office $15,000,000. This is the third time within a month that the bullion funds have been increased owing to the immense arrival of foreign gold.

Mosby to Resign.

WASHINGTON, Sept 27.—Letters received at the State Department from Consul Mosby indicate his resignation may be looked for within the next three months. He has been applying to his consular correspondence some of the methods of bushwhacking, and it is understood that the State Department yearns for his resignation.

Pity the Sorrows of a Widow.

WASHINGTON, Sept 27.—The widow Oliver returned to Washington from the North on Thursday, and upon her own application, was taken to the public alms house, where she will remain a charity ward until the appeal in her suit against ex Senator Cameron is heard.

A Dig at Gen. Grant.

EDS. TRIBUNE: At the risk of being considered ultra, I must enter my protest against the Gentiles giving General Grant an ovation should he visit this city. No true Gentile in Utah can forget, or forgive, his removal of that honest, upright, incorruptible, fearless Judge, McKean. He struck him down while he was performing his duty to the Government, and laboring zealously for the cause of justice, decency and good morals in Utah, and that, too, without even allowing him to be heard as against his accusers and defamers. This was a blunder if not a crime, and one of the worst that Grant committed during his second term in the White House.

It is not saying too much to affirm that had Judge McKean been properly supported by Grant's administration, notwithstanding defective laws, polygamy would have been scotched, if not killed, before his second term of office had expired. But his base removal gave a new lease of life to that monstrous evil, and from that time to the present the Mormon Church has constantly grown in power and arrogance, while the Gentile cause here has grown weaker, and less effective for good.

No, Messrs. Editors, it is the Mormons, and not the Gentiles of Utah, who should receive Grant with demonstrations of joy.

A STRAIGHT GENTILE.
SALT LAKE, Sept. 27, 1879.

A Jewish Festival.

Yesterday was observed by the Hebrews as the festival of Yom Kippur. The Orthodox among their number fasted strictly from sundown of Friday to the same time on Saturday, neither eating or drinking, but devoting the whole day to prayer and religious ceremonies. There was but one congregation, which met at the Congregational Church, Messrs Phillips and Watters reading the prayers. We understand that the local congregation will shortly hold a business meeting to elect its officers for the coming year.

Theatricals.

Commencing Saturday evening, Oct. 4th, Mr James A Herne and Miss Katherine Corcoran will entertain the amusement public of this city with a series of plays which have met with very flattering success upon the San Francisco boards. The opening play will be the ever fresh Rip Van Winkle, to be followed with Herne and Belasco's recent great success, "Chums." The artists are well known to our theatre goers and will doubtless be rewarded with good houses.

THE STAGE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.

Gerster sails on the 2d of October for New York.

John Gilbert is quite sick with typhoid fever.

Helen Blythe makes her debut on Tuesday at Daly's in Divorce.

At the Standard on Monday next Bandmann appears as Hamlet.

My Partner, at the Union Square, is pronounced an equivocal success.

Sothern's Crushed Tragedian this week at the Park is doing fairly.

Rafael Joseffy, the celebrated Hungarian pianist, arrived on the 24th.

The company supporting Frederic Paulding includes Gussie Deforest.

Aimee returns here in October and plays in opposition to Maurice Grau.

Our Daughter, at Haverly's theatre, by the Criterion Company is having a good run.

The Florences appear in Mighty Dollar on Monday at the Grand Opera House.

Signor Mattei Bina, the well known pianist, arrived on Wednesday from Europe.

McKee Rankin expects to produce the Danites at Sadler's theatre, London, next May.

La Perichole, with Capoulas Piquito, filled Fifth Avenue to overflowing, on Wednesday.

All the theatres open are doing a good business with the promise of a prosperous season.

Olive Logan's Newport at Daly's theatre will be succeeded to-morrow by Divorce.

The musical event of the week has been the reappearance of Carlotta Patti on Thursday at Chickering Hall.

The Emma Abbot opera closed a brilliant fortnight's engagement on Saturday, the receipts reaching nearly $20,000.

At Haverly's Olympic, Benighted will be produced on Monday. Next week the French Spy, with Bonfanto and Jennie Hughes will be produced.

Wood's Broadway theatre, on Broadway near Thirty first street, will be opened on Monday. A humorous entertainment entitled Bric a Brac will be the first attraction.

Edwin Booth commences the season at Ford's, Baltimore, on Oct 6th, supported by Frank Lawler, O. H. Barr, Louise Muldener, Alice Grey and the Opera House Company.

Max Maretzek's English Opera Company opened at the Academy of Music on Thursday with Maretzek's opera Sleepy Hollow, Libretto by Charles Gayler, from Irving's legend.

Lester Wallack plays Awful Dad and Scrap of Paper at the Brooklyn Park next week. His theatre opens the regular season on Wednesday with a comedy by Boucicault adapted from a French play.

THIRD DISTRICT COURT.

April Term—Chief Justice John A. Hunter Presiding.

SATURDAY, Sept 27.

The impanelling of the Grand Jury was continued yesterday morning, and the following jurors of the new venire answered to their names: William Salkield, S J. Nathan, J. F. Bradley, Frank Armstrong, Robert Patrick, John P Lawson, Henry C. Fowler, J F. Graham, William Kidd, John Van Cott, James Bringhurst, James Conlam, H W Hannibal, William P. Allleck and J Hiram Grant. Geo. R. Ayres, J. F. Harder, John Strock, C. M Gilberson and Howard Sebree were absent.

District Attorney Van Zile, being detained at Provo on business, the jury was excused till Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

In the will case of E. A. Young et al vs. George Q Cannon et al, Judge Hunter delivered an order, on motion of Judge Sutherland, to the effect that the receivers make a full report of their receivership in this case.

The demurrer to the complaint in re Livingston et al vs James De Courcey, was argued by Judge Hagan for the defendants and by Gen. Goldthwait for the plaintiffs, after which it was submitted, taken under advisement, and the demurrer overruled. An exception was taken, and the defendant given ten days to answer the complaint.

Base Ball.

For some unknown reason, the members of the Fort Douglas base ball club, who were advertised to play a game with the Salt Lake Brown Stockings on Washington Square yesterday, did not make their appearance. A match, however, was arranged and played between the Browns and Mutuals of Mill Creek, resulting in a victory for the former, by a score of 19 to 11.

A game of base ball was played at Ogden yesterday between the Ogden Pets, of that city, and the Lightfeet club, of this city. The score was 11 to 10 in favor of Salt Lake. Zion can play base ball, if she can't shoot.

The Clift House.

A traveler writing to the Woodstock (Canada) Sentinel from Salt Lake, says: "I went to the Clift House, one of the very best hotels I ever stopped at anywhere. I was almost surprised that the accommodation could be so good for the money, and I should recommend any of my friends going to Salt Lake City to stay at the Clift House."

Tintic Ore.

There was received the past week at the Pioneer sampling mill, from the Eureka Hill Mining Company, Tintic district, three cars of ore, assaying 120 ounces; one car of ore assaying 168 ounces, and two cars assaying forty per cent lead and twenty eight ounces silver.

SALT LAKE:

SUNDAY MORNING...... Sept. 28, 1879

NEW YORK has five candidates in the field for Governor. They stand as favorites in about the following order: Cornell, Robinson, Kelly, Lewis, and Professor Mears.

A GENTLEMAN who has been intimately associated with the late Potter committee, and familiar with the inside transactions, says that if an itemized account of the $20,000 that was appropriated for the use of the committee could be made public, it would create a greater sensation than any development that the investigation itself made, and would make a scandal to which the expenditure of Morrison's Louisiana Committee for whiskey was a trifle.

THE late Major Cavagnari was a man of great strength, great nerve and great calmness. He one day was obliged to settle with a dozen stalwart and armed Afridis some vexed land question. They surrounded him with angry vehemence, some with hand on their daggers; Cavagnari stood quiet, fearless, impassive. Suddenly the biggest of the Afridis measured his length upon the ground and the Major returned his hand to his pocket with unruffled composure. The swift thoroughness of that knocking down cowed the fierce hillmen.

ON Sunday last the Rev. Robert Collyer preached his farewell sermon to the Chicago church with which he has been identified for the past twenty years, and on Tuesday night, he took his departure for New York to assume the charge of new responsibilities. The Tribune in noting his departure says: "Although his farewell was spoken to the members of Unity Church, and pertained principally to the relations between the minister and his people, there is hardly a man or woman in Chicago who will not in some sense accept it as a personal good-by and join with those to whom it was spoken in regret that the kindly and well known face will no longer be a familiar sight in our homes and thoroughfares."

LAURA FAIR is receiving some very caustic notices from the California press since her advent on the lecture platform in the East. The following from the Record Union is a fair sample: "This sweet creature has taken to the lecture field, and is giving an account of California society, taken from the peculiar standpoint persons of her kind are alone capable of occupying. The society of California has no doubt a great deal to answer for, but among the most serious indictments that can be preferred against it is the fact that this woman still cumbers the earth. Her escape from the penalty she had unquestionably deserved will always be a disgraceful remembrance, and the shame of the episode is deepened by the proof she is now giving that she had not even modesty enough to remain in the obscurity which ought thenceforth to have enshrouded her."

THE Chicago Tribune of the 23d says: "Unusual significance attaches to the date fixed this year for the reunion of the Army of the Tennessee, which occurs in Chicago. In determining the date of November 5th and 6th, Gen. Sherman, President of the Society, is presumed to have had in view the arrival in this city of Gen. Grant, and it may be safely presumed that the latter will so arrange his stay on the Pacific Coast as to reach Chicago in time to meet and be welcomed by the vast multitude of his companions in arms who will assemble here on that occasion. The ex President has expressed himself as extremely desirous of attending the reunion, and, since he will not willingly disappoint the former comrades who count upon greeting him then, it is tolerably certain that the 5th of November will see Gen. Grant in Chicago."

SOJOURNER TRUTH who is now investigating the colored exodus in Kansas, is thus described by the Kansas City Times: "Sojourner is probably about one hundred and four or five years old. She was born in a little place called Harly, in Ulster county, N. Y., a slave, and remained in bondage until freed by the emancipation of 1817, which set free all slaves in New York over forty years of age. She has been the friend of Lincoln, Greeley, Gerrett Smith, Wendell Phillips, and a host of the prominent Northern anti-slavery thinkers and leaders. Although an uneducated negress, she is gifted with powers of concentration and a strength of ideas which have made her wherever she has moved a conspicuous figure. In her hundred and fifth year her sight is undimmed, her voice quavers not, and she can endure fatigues which many young women would be unable to even attempt. Truly a most remarkable person and perhaps the most noted of her race that ever lived, not even excepting Toussaint L'Ouverture, or Frederick Douglass."

1879. Furniture. 1879.

We invite the attention of the city, the Territories and all camps far and near to our stock of furniture, house goods, mattresses, feathers, etc., etc. Our stock is large, new and we think well selected. WORK FOR THE GRAND JURY.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald informs us that it is understood in official circles that "the examination of the Endowment house will be one of the first duties presented to the Grand Jury." This duty is imposed upon the Grand Jury by the act of Congress of 1874, which declares that this body must inquire into the cases of prisoners not indicted, into the willful corrupt misconduct of public officers of every description, "and they are also entitled to free access, at all reasonable times, to the public prisons and to the examination, without charge, of all public records within the District." An exposure of the secret doings in the Endowment House, by one who went through its unholy stalling ceremonies within the past year, is given in another column. By this record we learn that polygamy is enjoined upon the followers of Joseph Smith as the highest duty, as by this violation of statute law they attain superior exaltation in the worlds to come. They are also pledged to obey the Mormon priesthood in all things, and they vow eternal enmity to the Government and people of the United States because of the killing of their early prophets; and this treasonable hate they are also required to teach to their children and their children's children. Evidently such practices are inimical to the public safety, and are in antagonism with the citizen's social duties. The whole business, beside, is in violation of law. Every marriage contracted in that sealed edifice is entered in a book, and this marriage register is a public record. The statute referred to renders it obligatory upon the Grand Jury to examine all public records within the District, the object of this inquiry being to discover fraud (if such exists) and to bring to justice those persons who have been guilty of crime.

"The laudable object of the Administration is to put a stop to polygamy. During seventeen years it has been practiced in defiance of law, and all attempts to punish offenders (with one sole exception) have failed through want of proof. The United States District Attorney," we are informed, "is instructed to proceed with the vigorous prosecution of every case presented, and all evidence which can be obtained from the records of that institution (the Endowment house) will be used in support of the position of the Government." Access to the marriage register is thus a vital necessity to the proper performance of duty by the Prosecuting Officer, and hence the instructions sent to the Judge of this District to charge the Grand Jury to examine into the records and doings of the Endowment house.

The official organ of the Mormon Church very distinctly intimates that this will be resisted. The editor sets up a plea of religious sanctity and claims that their sacred ordinances must not be violated. But no privilege is extended to practices—secular or ecclesiastical—which are in violation of law. And we do not believe that the Directory of the Church will be rash enough to oppose any obstacle. The duty of the Grand Jury, on the charge of the Court to examine the Endowment House records, is made mandatory by law, and any priest or officer of the Mormon Church to whom the custody of those records properly belongs, will place himself in contempt of Court, who fails to produce them on the demand of the Grand Jury. The custody does not rest with any clerk or unknown official, but with the twelve apostles, who have the supreme control of Church affairs, and are responsible to the law for all the Church's lawless doings. The demand will most likely be made upon John Taylor, the highest officer of the Church, and if he refuses to produce the record, he will stand properly committed for contempt. Joseph F. Smith is the chief officiating priest in that sink of iniquity, and he would be the next man to apply to. This very choice specimen of a divine oracle failing, he should also be committed. And so with the whole quorum, until the books are produced or the entire dozen are sent to rusticate in the pen.

The Administration has avowed its intent to suppress the criminal and degrading practice of polygamy. The only way to accomplish this righteous end is to punish those who in defiance of law enter into the illicit relation. But those cannot be punished without proof of their crime, and the Church register of their polygamous marriage is the most convincing evidence that can be produced. The law says that the Grand Jury shall have access to all such records within the district, and word comes to us from Washington that "the examination of the Endowment House will be one of the first duties presented to the Grand Jury." This will make a direct issue. Shall the law of the land or the will of the twelve apostles prevail? It is an interesting question, and the people of Utah (the people of the United States, we may properly say,) abide with some expectancy the determination of the conflict.

A PAINFUL REMINISCENCE.

A correspondent, who signs himself "a straight Gentile," thinks General Grant has not earned of the citizens of Salt Lake the good will they desire to show him. He remembers that when President he removed Judge McKean, thereby inflicting a deadly blow upon the cause of progress in Zion. The writer pronounces it one of the worst blunders committed by Grant, during his second Presidential term. This admission is in itself an apology. Our correspondent must remember that Utah is remote from the seat of Government, that its social condition is anomalous, and that the Chief Executive in administering its affairs can hardly escape blunders. Grant removed McKean for what he supposed sufficient cause, and we are willing to believe that he did it with honest intent. It was unfortunate, and that act of injustice sent a lofty patriot and true man broken hearted to the grave. But to err is mortal. We are not looking for spots on the sun. Our illustrious fellow citizen returns to his native shore honored with the applause of every land he has visited. His great achievements and the esteem in which they are held dignify his country equally with himself. Let us esteem him for the good he has done, and not carp over a blunder error he has committed. Grant was always a friend to Utah, and honestly sought the enforcement of law within its limits. Let us honor him for honest intention, and drop the mantle of charity upon a fault which worked such serious disaster to this community. If General Grant shall visit Utah, let us all extend to him the hand of hearty welcome.

THE BATTLE OF THE BOOKS.

While Rigdon gave to Mormonism its written word, it is not to be denied that Smith gave to it much of its unwritten and unwritable spirit; and while there is a medicum of truth associated with this "unwritten word" of Mormonism, what truth there is in the written is not visible to the naked eye. It is for the most part empty pretense and bold assumption. "The Books!" said Brigham Young, "the books are not worth the ashes of a rye straw. The Church has the living oracles." And Brigham—in the first part of this declaration at least—was right; and Joseph, in a like (unavowed but practical) position, was right, too. "There is a spirit in man; and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding." And these men, unlettered as they were, having minds "uncorrupted by books," at times felt this inspiration of the Almighty giving them understanding — perhaps much as the Indian feels it. Rigdon was a bookish and formal literalist—with a bee in his bonnet. There is no royal road to learning—priesthood, revelation, or any other. Of course the sincere, devout mind must always be (so far) in advance of the insincere and undevout. The Spirit of God in the soul of man—shed abroad in the heart—is like the early and latter rain upon the soil. But nothing can compensate for the lack of faithful (and fruitful) efforts to "get understanding," from books, from one another, from all the wide domains of nature and art. Knowledge is power, but wisdom, the sum and concentration of knowledge, is the very seed and issue of salvation.

Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers, and I linger on the shore,
And the individual withers, and the world is more and more.

Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers, and he bears a laden breast,
Full of sad experience, moving toward the stillness of his rest.

(Mormonism is no very congenial theme.)

The Josephite Mormons hold fast by the Mormon books. Many Mormons here do, but the wiser few, whether here or yonder, have discarded, or are discarding them, for they cannot be digested. Indeed the Battle of the Books is just now upon the church known as Mormon, whether in Utah or Illinois, and it will yet wax hot. The issue (it is not difficult to foresee) will be, the assigning of Rigdon to his true place in the Mormon work, which he has never yet had, and Joseph Smith his, which he has never yet had. The Bible and the Christian religion will remain, as they have all along remained, unaffected by this or any other sectarian issue.

It is a highly significant fact that Joseph Smith, the imaginary founder of Mormonism, was not present on the occasion of the Book of Doctrine and Covenants being presented to the church for acceptance as its law and rule of faith. He happened to be away in Michigan at this very important juncture. He was in Kirtland, the then headquarters of Mormonism, just before and just after this important event. But the real Moses of Mormonism—its real law giver—was then present in the person of Sidney Rigdon, (and its "Aaron," too, in the person of O. Cowdery). This was the occasion of a "General Assembly of the Church of Latter day Saints," and was held in August, 1835, and then accepted (what Elder Pratt called and as we have seen miscalled the first edition of) the Book of Doctrine and Covenants.

[The "History of Joseph Smith" fails to state that the Section on Marriage was accepted by the unanimous voice of this Conference. For this piece of information one has to refer to Elder Pratt's "first edition" of the Book of Doctrine and Covenants, at the end. This edition is also very rare. But Apostle J. F. Smith will no doubt find a copy at the Historian's office.]

It is to be borne in mind that Rigdon was twelve years older than Smith. In 1823, when Smith was a youth of eighteen, Rigdon was thirty. The year 1823 figures conspicuously as a very important date in Mormon history, but, so far as Smith is concerned, it has no great interest or significance. To be sure, that was a very important year in Rigdon's life, but what of that? We shall see anon. The year 1823 is the date in Mormon history when Smith claims to have had his first "call." Three years before (in 1820) at the age of fifteen, the Father and Son had appeared to him (so he says, or so it is said for him,) for the purpose of telling him that all the sects were wrong, and an "abomination" in the sight of heaven, forbidding the youth Joseph to join with any of them—this injunction being twice impressively repeated. (Yet, spite of this, and even after he has "translated" a part of the sacred plates, he tries hard to join the Methodist church in Harmony, Pennsylvania. If this fact is disputed, satisfactory evidence can be given.) In 1823, when he was eighteen, a messenger sent from the presence of God—so the history has it—who said his name was Nephi, came to Joseph for the purpose of making known to him the existence of the sacred plates containing the Book of Mormon, etc. "He said there was a book deposited, written upon gold plates, giving an account of the former inhabitants of this continent, and the source from whence they sprang."

There is no reason to dispute that Joseph's earliest vision (so called), when he was a boy of fifteen, had some ground in an actual experience of some such kind. One boy, at least, out of a hundred, will have dreams of a similar character. Why, a friend at our elbow was just relating a most striking dream of his, had when a boy, in which the Father and Son appeared to him, (this dream was several times repeated) and this could readily be twisted into a wonderful vision had he been disposed to thus exaggerate, or had any one else been of the mind to make a mountain out of a molehill for him—as Rigdon undoubtedly was disposed, and (I believe) did in the case of young Joseph. But, leaving out the fact, or fancy, of the Father and Son appearing to young Joe, what do we encounter upon the very threshold of this Mormon structure? Two palpable equivocations:

First—This angel's name.

Second—(which will be noticed first.) What did this angel say?

"He said there was a book deposited written upon gold plates." But the Book of Mormon itself does not claim to have been written upon gold plates—only the "Book of Ether," a very small, fractional part of the Book of Mormon. Here again the oily and effusive scribe, Cowdery, is caught tripping, for he says

"I wrote, with my own pen, the entire Book of Mormon (save a few pages) as it fell from the lips of the prophet Joseph Smith, as he translated it by the gift and power of God, by the means of the Urim and Thummim, or, as it is called by that book, 'holy interpreters.' I beheld with my eyes and handled with my hands the gold plates from which it was translated. I also saw with my eyes and handled with my hands the 'holy interpreters.' That book is true. Sidney Rigdon did not write it. Mr. Spaulding did not write it. I wrote it myself as it fell from the lips of the prophet.—Mill. Star, vol xxi, No. 34.

Cowdery is reported to have borne this testimony a few months before his death. Is it pretended, that the plates were—with the exception named—gold plates? If they had been, it is exceedingly doubtful if they ever would have been "translated" except into "current coin of the realm."

Now as to the angel's name. Was it Nephi or Moroni? In a half-column of Joseph's history, the "messenger sent from the presence of God," (Sept. 23, 1823,) is described in the most dazzling style, but it appears he did not know his own name, or, if he did, assumed an alias to the inoffensive youth whom "God" (whose presence this messenger had just left) had singled out to do His marvellous work. He (Nephi—Moroni—which?) "said that God had a work for me to do; and that my name should be had for good and evil among all nations, kindreds and tongues, or that it should be both good and evil spoken of among all people."

It is important to know when the above narrative was first recited, when it was written, and who composed it. It first appeared in print some eighteen years after its pretended occurrence—time enough for the whole matter to have been carefully elaborated and nicely dovetailed, and yet, the fatal oversight of Nephi for Moroni! If Joseph had had, in 1823, the name of this angel sent from the presence of God, it is inconceivable that he should not have communicated it to Cowdery; but in the series of Cowdery's Letters to Phelps, written and published as late as 1834-5, the name of this angel sent from the presence of God with the all important mission, is not given. In his lectures on Early Mormonism, last winter, Apostle Joseph F. Smith touched upon this matter, and attempted to explain it, but entirely failed to clear up the discrepancy. If it was Moroni, why did he give the name Nephi? Can any Mormon tell? Or, if the angel gave any name at all, why, in his parade of particulars, did not Cowdery mention it?

Pushing Things.

Can it be that the Government intends moving against the polygamous feature of the Mormon Church in earnest? We are informed that the United States Grand Jury, which is to meet at Salt Lake next month has instructions to probe the evil to the bottom, and proceed unrelentingly against those who practice it. The secret mysteries of that great temple of iniquity, the "Endowment House," are to be penetrated and exposed, and its archives used as testimony for the conviction of the actors in its orgies. Of course, the Mormons will fight against this. But it is said the hands of justice are to be strengthened to the performance of duty, which means that the military power will be called in, if necessary, to enforce the orders of the Courts. If the Government is earnest in this intention, it can effect a good deal, by either suppressing polygamy entirely, or forcing the Mormons to go to some country where it will be considered less offensive than here. Now is the time to strike the blow. Long forbearance has emboldened the Mormons, who of late years have been more active in the work of proselyting than ever before.—S. F. Call.

A STORY comes all of the way from the beautiful Vale of Cashmere which illustrates the relief and aid methods in vogue there during the prevalence of the famine. It is related of the authorities, whose civilization is capable of vast improvement, that having many famine-stricken people on their hands, and not being able, or lacking the charity consistent with the occasion, to furnish food for the starving victims, they had them bundled into boats, taken out into a lake, and dumped into the water, where they sank, and thus ended their sufferings. When the history of this terrible famine shall be written this incident, if it be authenticated, will certainly deserve a separate chapter as illustrative of the Oriental way out of an embarrassing predicament.

Grandeur of the Morning Skies.

A grander spectacle seldom greets the eye of man than is presented by our early morning skies at the present time. Three gorgeous planets form a royal girdle across the heavens. Jupiter in the west, Saturn in the high south, Mars well up in the east, and beyond, almost in a direct line with these planets, ruddy faced Aldebaran. Over head Cassiopeia and the Pleiades. Well down in the east noble Orion on his ride; while later in the morning glow, shines silver-faced Sirius, in splendor, rivaling Venus in the open twilight. Morning newspaper men and the early bird feast upon the sight.

Cut This Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with lung disease, coughs, colds or consumption, yet some would die rather than pay seventy-five cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonishes every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your druggist, Moore, Allen & Co., or Z. C. M. I., and get a sample bottle for ten cents and try it, or a regular size for seventy five cents.

A SUICIDE took place at Paris under very peculiar circumstances. The man, it appears, from a letter found on his corpse, was a devotee to science. The letter runs thus: "I desire that my body be given to the Faculty of Medicine to study. I shoot myself because I am suffering from an incurable disease. In spite of that I am as strong as a horse and cannot die. Let me be very carefully dissected. I shall afford the doctors a very curious study."

SECRETARY EVARTS' CIRCULAR.

Twenty-five Years' Neglect of Polygamy Renders it Now Difficult to Deal With.

[St. Louis Republican.]

Secretary Evarts' circular against Mormon proselytism in Europe does not appear to have been treated abroad with that respect and reverence justly due the production of so distinguished an official. The most irritating criticism on it is, that in expecting foreign nations to restrict emigration, because the emigrant might possibly violate the laws of the United States, the distinguished Secretary has suggested an absurdity. Now if there is anything Mr Evarts is justly entitled to it is a reputation for dignity and correct diplomatic deportment, and to have his circular thus treated is extremely surprising and unreasonable. Happily for him, this expression of European opinion on the subject comes to us filtered through Mormon sources and may be erroneous, but it is backed up by the fact that Mormon converts continue to arrive from Europe in undiminished numbers. (Last week 335 recruits for Utah arrived at New York and proceeded at once, via the Pennsylvania railroad, to the Territory. The regiment was composed of Scandinavians, English and Welsh, and was commanded by sixteen or seventeen experienced Mormon elders, several of whom are quite successful missionaries and have been frequently to Europe.

A reporter interviewed these gentlemen and found them quite indifferent about the Secretary's circular and not at all apprehensive respecting the recent attempt in Utah to suppress polygamy. They said that from 1843 to 1862 this feature of Mormonism had existed wholly unmolested by the Government; that in the latter year Congress passed a law on the subject which has never been enforced, that the recent prosecutions were instituted under an old Territorial act, and that Reynolds could never have been convicted only for defection in members of his own family. They thought all other prosecutions would fail and that the present movement against them would soon be abandoned.

There is much truth in the Mormon statements: The United States Government did tolerate polygamy for a quarter of a century or more, and under that toleration it has expanded into a regular social institution in Utah. But this fact does not in any way justify its continuance. Because it has gone unwhipped of justice for some years furnishes no argument for not punishing it now. There was no implied contract in its exemption from prosecution in the past that it would be protected in the future. It is a violation of law, and like other crimes it is always liable to be brought to trial and conviction. There are, we admit, a great many difficulties in suppressing the evil under the circumstances pertaining to its origin and maintenance in Utah. It is difficult to get the precise proof necessary, and difficult to secure conviction amid Mormon surroundings. But none of these difficulties are at all insurmountable, and there is no course for the Government to take but to press all prosecutions possible and show the Mormons and the world that polygamy is against the letter and spirit of our laws, and will be punished and suppressed. The detestable institution is doomed any way, for the privacy of Utah is long since broken up and the influence of a pure public opinion is already destroying the foundation. Criminal prosecutions will greatly expedite the desired result, and should be conducted with unsparing vigor. The new material imported from Europe by the Mormon missionaries is drawn from the dregs of European society—poor, ignorant and credulous. The appearance of a car full of Mormon immigrants is enough to show that their alleged conversion is an imposture in itself. The men and women look rough and uncouth as it is possible to conceive, and evidently but half understood their situation. It is easy to make converts to anything among some of the poorer classes of Europe, if you offer them transportation to the United States, and it is this promise, we imagine, the missionaries find most effective. Such people may help settle Utah and to develop its agricultural and mineral wealth, but they will furnish no new element of strength to the Mormon religion and social system.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Building operations in Leadville are very lively this fall

A white woman was caught in an opium den in Tuscarora, last Saturday.

The life saving station at Coos Bay has been furnished with a mortar, and lines to be thrown to vessels in distress

The eighty-acre almond orchard of James McNeil, in Fresno county, Cal, promises an abundant yield A gang of men are now engaged in picking and hauling them.

Grape growers in Nevada county, Cal, say there is more money in grapes to manufacture them into wine at twenty five cents a gallon than to cure and market them as raisins.

The Canyon City News says "Cattle are rolling fat in the Camp Harney country, Idaho, and large numbers of them are being driven to Winnemucca to be shipped to San Francisco."

The Sacramento Bee says "The umpire in a Eureka (Nev) base ball match refused $350 to 'throw' the game, Barnum has already offered him $1,000 a month to travel as the greatest living curiosity."

The Butler mine at Paradise, Nev, is proving to be one of the richest prospects in Mount Rose district The vein is from fourteen to eighteen feet wide, and the ore now being extracted assays $150 per ton silver.

The receipts of grain from the Upper Columbia were 2,600 tons last week, and the total amount going down the river this season will be about 42,000 tons Three steamers are now on the route between Portland and the Cascades.

Teams loaded with wheat fill the streets of Walla Walla, Washington Territory, daily It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 bushels yet to ship The railroad is blocked, as the cars take the grain to Wallula faster than the boats can carry it off

The Indian pedestrians ran in San Jose, Cal, on Sunday, and made remarkably quick time The young Apache, Jose, made twenty-one miles in two hours, one minute and thirty seconds, making the first ten miles in fifty-seven minutes. Jim ran ten miles in fifty nine minutes

Butte Miner, 23d "The Allee mill has been closed for a few days, while the Howell furnaces were being cleaned and furnished with new feeders The Thornton mill is undergoing renovation, the old engine and boiler being replaced by new ones, while five additional stamps, three pans and two settlers are being put in."

Helena Herald. "I. Sichen & Bro, of Lower Smith river, last week purchased a band of sheep (3,400), of Mr Rosson, of Red Bluff, Cal We did not learn the price paid, but understand it was a little less than $3 per head. The sheep are reported to be in fine condition and one of the best bands ever driven from the Red Bluff region"

A railroad train recently moved out of Denver with a bride on board, but the careless husband was left in the station. He was wild with excitement when he understood that she had been whisked off on her honeymoon journey alone, and at length a compassionate official put him on a special locomotive, with orders to the engineer to overtake the bride at all hazards.

The Esmeralda Herald contains the following: Frank Shaw says that on his meadows two boys and a dog killed seventeen skunks in one afternoon, last week, and the boys and dog smelled loud enough to have killed seventeen hundred. At the Big Meadows, over Bridgeport way, the hay cutters are obliged to hang up their machines and cease operations, because they cut up about one skunk to every hundred pounds of grass. Whew!

Trade Prospects.

When to fill their orders New York merchants are compelled to work day and night, as many of them have been doing for some weeks, it is unnecessary to call attention to the general improvement in business; yet most of the trade alluded to has been with the West and Southwest Immediately following this, and just now beginning, comes the influx of merchants from all the Northern and Western States, and the rapidity with which these are arriving, their numbers and the freedom with which they are buying promise handsomely for the fall and winter. Most of the improvement may be traced back to the success with which the leading crops were reared and harvested; but various manufacturing interests also are contributing to the general activity, and the American passion for spending money as soon as it is in hand is being felt to the advantage of all the minor departments of trade. The general outlook offers no unpleasant feature, and the only possible bar to perfect satisfaction at the prospect is found in the fear that the old American fault of being too sanguine and hopeful—of discounting the future on the basis of the present—may again be indulged in despite the severe lessons of the past six years If prompt payment becomes the invariable rule of seller and buyer the country has nothing whatever to fear.—New York Herald 20th

Utah as a State.

The Salt Lake correspondent of the New York Tribune says the Mormon plan for solving the polygamy problem is to secure the admission of Utah, during the coming winter, to be a State in the Union, and every argument that can be adduced, every consideration that is likely to have weight in Washington, will be put forward to persuade Congress to pass an enabling act. The admission of Utah would certainly place the subject of polygamy in that Territory, as the correspondent says, beyond the jurisdiction of the Government of the United States, and put it entirely into the control of the Mormons themselves. If that is the kind of a settlement of the question which the people of the United States desire to see, then the doors should be opened and the State of Deseret should be cordially welcomed; otherwise this new movement should be closely watched, and mem-

THE LITTLE ROBE OF WHITE.

In a rosewood cradle a baby lay;
Its mother was stitching, stitching away
On a little robe of white.
One foot on the rocker she hoped to keep
Her frolicsome baby fast asleep,
To finish her work that night.

In every stitch of the garment she wrought,
That loving mother fastened a thought—
Hopes for that little one
And smiled on her babe with a happy pride
As it slept in its cradle by her side,
Till the little robe was done.

Then she folded up the cambric and lace,
And kissed her little one a chubby face,
That smiled in its infant glee
She tossed it up and down in the air,
"How pretty you'll look, little babe, when you wear
That new little robe," said she

* * * * *

In a rosewood coffin the baby lay;
Its mother had wept the night away
Watching its dying breath
With it pressed to her bosom, she prayed to keep
Her darling baby from going to sleep,
In the cold, cold arms of Death

They buried the babe in the garment just wrought
Whose every stitch held a hopeful thought,
From that loving mother's sight
On the marble stone she wrote, with a tear,
"How many hopes are buried here
In that little robe of white!"

* * * * *

In the Savior's arms the baby lay,
From its rosewood coffin far away,
In the realms of love and light.
The angels a garment had folded about
Its little form, which will never wear out—
A beautiful robe of white.

How Old is Glass?

The oldest specimen of pure glass bearing anything like a date is a little molded lion's head, bearing the name of an Egyptian King of the eleventh dynasty, in the Slade collection at the British Museum That is to say, at a period which may be moderately placed as more than 2,000 years B C, glass was not only made, but made with a skill which shows that the art was nothing new. The inventions of glazing pottery with a film or varnish of glass is so old that among the fragments which bear inscriptions of the early Egyptian monarchy are beads possibly of the first dynasty. Of later glass there are numerous examples, such as a bead found at Thebes, which has the name of Queen Hatasoo or Hashep, of the eighteenth dynasty Of the same period are vases and goblets and many fragments. It cannot be doubted that the story prepared by Pliny, which assigns the credit of the invention to the Phœnicians, is so far true that those adventurous merchants brought specimens to other countries from Egypt. Dr. Schliemann found disks of glass in the excavations at Mycenæ, though Homer does not mention it as a substance known to him. That the modern art of the glass-blower was known long before is certain from representations among the pictures on the walls of a tomb at Beni Hassan, of the twelfth Egyptian dynasty; but a much older picture, which probably represented the same manufacture, is among the half obliterated scenes in a chamber of the tomb of Thy at Sakkara, and dates from the time of the fifth dynasty, a time so remote that it is not possible, in spite of the assiduous researches of many Egyptologers, to give it a date in years.—Saturday Review.

Once upon a time, when Dumas pere was short of cash, he wrote to a certain millionaire, asking for the loan of some money for a few months. The letter was an extremely characteristic one, and ended with a charming little rondeau, half jest, half seriousness. Indeed it was such a clever production that the banker sagely concluded its author was not to be trusted with money, and curtly declined to make the proposed investment At dinner that night several of the banker's guests happened to be discussing a recent sale of autographs and mentioned the almost fabulous prices brought by familiar notes of Hugo, Lamartine, Guizot and Gautier.

"Do you mean to tell me," said the millionaire, "that things of that sort have any value—money value?"

"Certainly they have," replied one of his guests, who was a collector, "a good autograph, such as I have mentioned, is worth its weight in bank notes any day"

"How much is this worth?" said the banker, taking Dumas' letter from his pocket.

"I'll give you a hundred francs for it this instant," said the collector, with enthusiasm, after reading it

"Done!" said the banker, and with a pitying smile, he pocketed the money for the letter to which a few hours before he had returned a contemptuous refusal.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR To its Natural Vitality and Color.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by long extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth and always surely restores its color when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp, cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Seminal Weakness, the consequence of self-abuse (this solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to forming new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to DR. GIBBON, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have the medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use. By inclosing TEN DOLLARS in a registered letter, through the Postoffice, or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded by express to any part of the Union

Persons writing to the Doctor, will please state the name of the paper in which they see this advertisement. All communications strictly confidential.

YOUNG MEN

Who may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretion will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

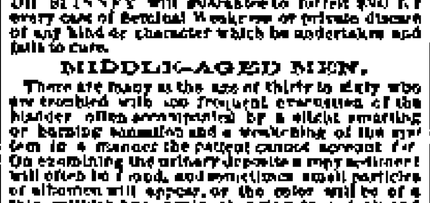

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs

Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 a. m. Consultation free Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address

TERMS TO AGENTS

Postmasters and others forming clubs and acting as agents for the circulation of THE TRIBUNE, may retain ten per cent on all subscriptions, and single copies, at club rates, after the club is formed. Papers not sent unless paid for in advance, and invariably discontinued at the end of the time paid for.

THE TRIBUNE PUBLISHING COMPANY will recognize no others as agents than those appearing above, nor hold itself responsible for money paid on subscription, job work, etc., to others than the above regularly authorized agents.

All communications for this paper, either for publication or on business, should be addressed to THE TRIBUNE, and not to any person connected with it. Attention to this request will sometimes prevent annoyance and delays, as the attaches to whom communications are likely to be addressed may be absent from the city.

IT has just been discovered by Granny that Joseph Smith, son of the Prophet Joseph, is expected in Utah in a short time. Joseph represents the true Latter-day Church, while Taylor and his clan represent the fraudulent institution. We have no doubt he will be warmly received by the honest portion of the Mormon people.

SAYS Granny: "There is probably no one thing more important to our people who live in the settlements and on their farms, than the securing of the title to the land they cultivate." The importance of this fact is illustrated in the suit now pending between the heirs of Brigham and the executors Of course the Saints were swindled out of their property, and it is terribly galling to them to see how basely they have been deceived by those who thought the property had been turned over to the Lord.

LIFTING THE VAIL.

The Endowment House Mysteries Fully Exposed.

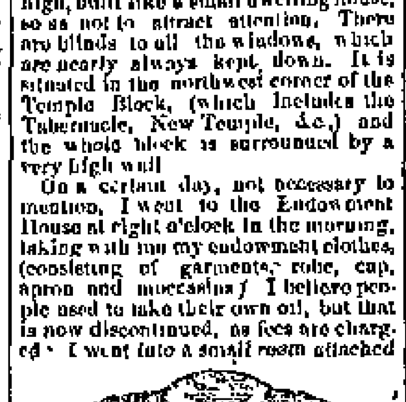

The Oaths Repeated Which Turn Mormons into Slaves.

They Vow Obedience to the Everlasting Priesthood,

And Undying Enmity to the American People.

The Mormon Endowment House is a plain adobe building, two stories high, built like a small dwelling house, so as not to attract attention. There are blinds to all the windows, which are nearly always kept down. It is situated in the northwest corner of the Temple Block, (which includes the Tabernacle, New Temple, &c.) and the whole block is surrounded by a very high wall

On a certain day, not necessary to mention, I went to the Endowment House at eight o'clock in the morning, taking with me my endowment clothes, (consisting of garments, robe, cap, apron and moccasins.) I believe people used to take their own oil, but that is now discontinued, as fees are charged. I went into a small room attached to the main building, (designated in the plan by the name of Reception Room,) which was crowded with men and women, having their bundles of clothing. The entrance door is on the east side, and in the southwest corner; there is another, next to which the desk stood, where the clerk recorded the names, etc. Around the north and west sides were benches for the people to sit.

On going up to the desk I presented my recommend from the bishop in whose ward I was staying, and George Reynolds, who was then acting as clerk, asked me my name, those of my parents, when and where I was born, and when I was baptized into the Mormon Church.

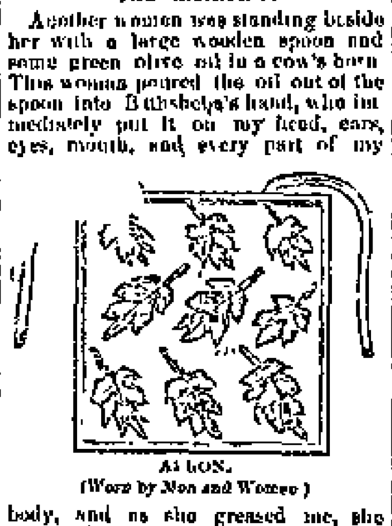

That over, he told me to leave my hat, cloak and shoes in that room; and taking up my bundle, I went into the room marked B on the plan, where I sat waiting till it came my turn to be washed

THE WASHING.

One of the women, an officiating high priestess, told me to come behind the curtain (which I have indicated by a waving line), where I could hear a great deal of splashing and subdued conversation I went, and after I was undressed, I had to step into a long bath, about half full of water, when another woman proceeded to wash me. I objected strongly to this part of the business, but was told to show a more humble spirit. However, when she got down to my feet, she let me go, and I was turned over to the woman who had spoken to me first, and whose name was Bathsheba Smith, (one of the widows of Apostle George A. Smith). She wore a large shiny apron, and her sleeves tucked up above her elbows She looked thoroughly like business.

THE ANOINTING.

Another woman was standing beside her with a large wooden spoon and some green olive oil in a cow's horn This woman poured the oil out of the spoon into Bathsheba's hand, who immediately put it on my head, ears, eyes, mouth, and every part of my body, and as she greased me, she muttered a kind of prayer over each member of my body: My head, that I might have a knowledge of the truths of God; my eyes, that I might see the glories of the kingdom; my mouth, that I might at all times speak the truth, my arms, that they might be strong in the defense of the gospel, my bosom—and here I must ask my readers not to think I want to tell this part of the story, but I do want people to know the truth, and how disgusting and indelicate this thing is. Mormon people deny many of these things, and civilized and decent people can scarcely realize that this institution is as infamous as it really is, but I solemnly assert that these things do exist. To continue: My bosom, that I might nourish the children whom I might raise by my husband, (I was not then married, but expected to be), and another part of my body, that I might raise up a goodly seed, that they might be pillars of strength to the upbuilding and strengthening of God's kingdom upon the earth. And so she got down to my feet, when she hoped they might be swift in the paths of righteousness and truth.

APRON.
(Worn by Men and Women)

She then turned me over to the woman who had washed me, and who whispered

MY NEW AND CELESTIAL NAME

in my ear. I believe I am to be called up in the morning of the resurrection by it. It was "Sarah". I felt disappointed. I thought I should have received a more distinguished name. She told me that new name must never be spoken, but often thought of, to keep away evil spirits. I should be required to speak it once that day, but she would tell me in what part of the ceremony, and that I should never again have to speak it.

ENDOWMENT ROBES.

She then told me to put on my garments. These are made in one piece. On the right breast is a square, on the left a compass, in the centre a small hole; and on the knee a large hole, which is called the "stone." We were told that as long as we kept them on no harm could befall us, and that when we changed them we were not to take them all off at once, but slip out a limb at a time and immediately dive into the clean ones. The neck was never to be cut low, or the sleeves short, as that would be patterning after the fashions of the Gentiles

After this I put on my clothes, and in my stocking feet, waited with those who were washed and anointed until she had finished the remaining two or three This done, the little calico curtains (marked A. and B.) were drawn aside and the men and women stood revealed to each other. The men looked very uncomfortable, and not at all picturesque They only had their garments and shirts on, and they r[illegible] did seem as though they were ashamed of themselves, as well they might be.

THE WEAK KNEED CAN BACK OUT

Joseph F. Smith then came to where we were all waiting, and told us that if "we wanted to back out, now was our time," because we should not be able afterward, and that we were bound to go right through. All those who wanted to go through were to hold up their hands, which of course everyone did, believing that all the good and holy things that were to be seen and heard in the "House of the Lord" were yet to come. He then told us that if ever any of us attempted to reveal what we saw and heard in the "House" our memories would be blighted, and we should for they were things too holy to be spoken of between each other, after we had once left the Endowment House. We were then told to be very quiet and listen Joseph F. Smith then went away.

BE EVERLASTINGLY DAMNED,

BLASPHEMOUS MUMMERIES.

In a few moments we heard voices talking loudly so that the people could hear them in the adjoining room. (I afterwards found out in passing through that it was the prayer circle room) It was supposed to be a conversation between Elohim (Head God) and Jehovah. The conversation was as follows:

Elohim to Jehovah—"Well, Jehovah, I think we will create an earth; let Michael go down and collect all the elements together and found one"

Answer—"Very well, O Lord God, it shall be done."

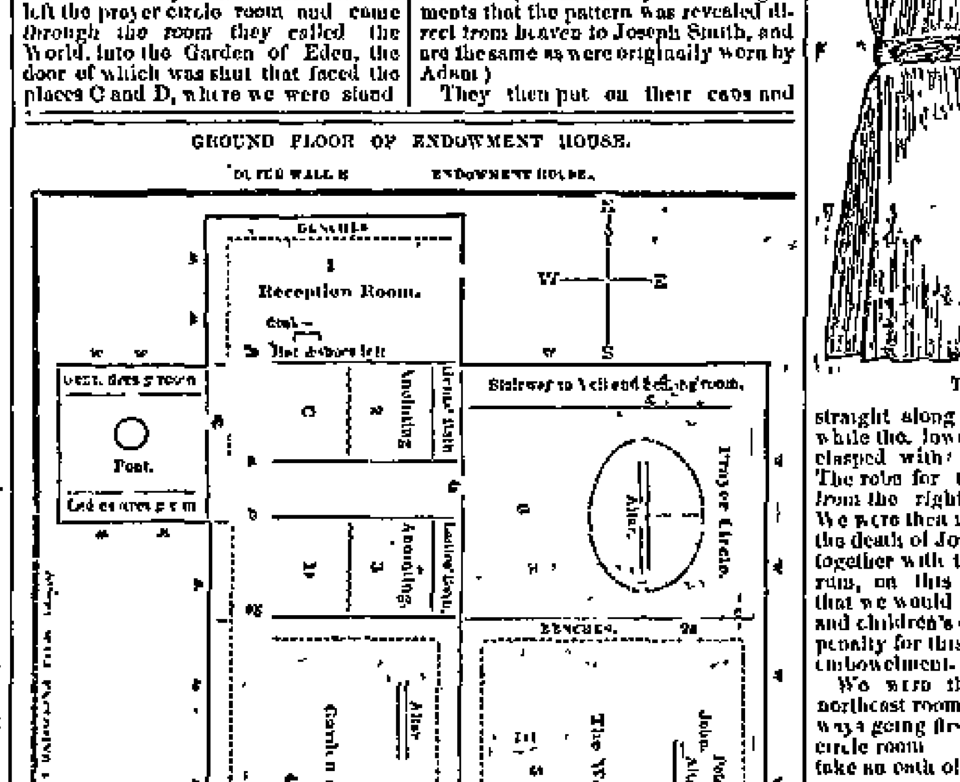

Then calling to another man, we could hear him say:

"Michael, go down and collect all the elements together and form an earth, and then report to us what you have done."

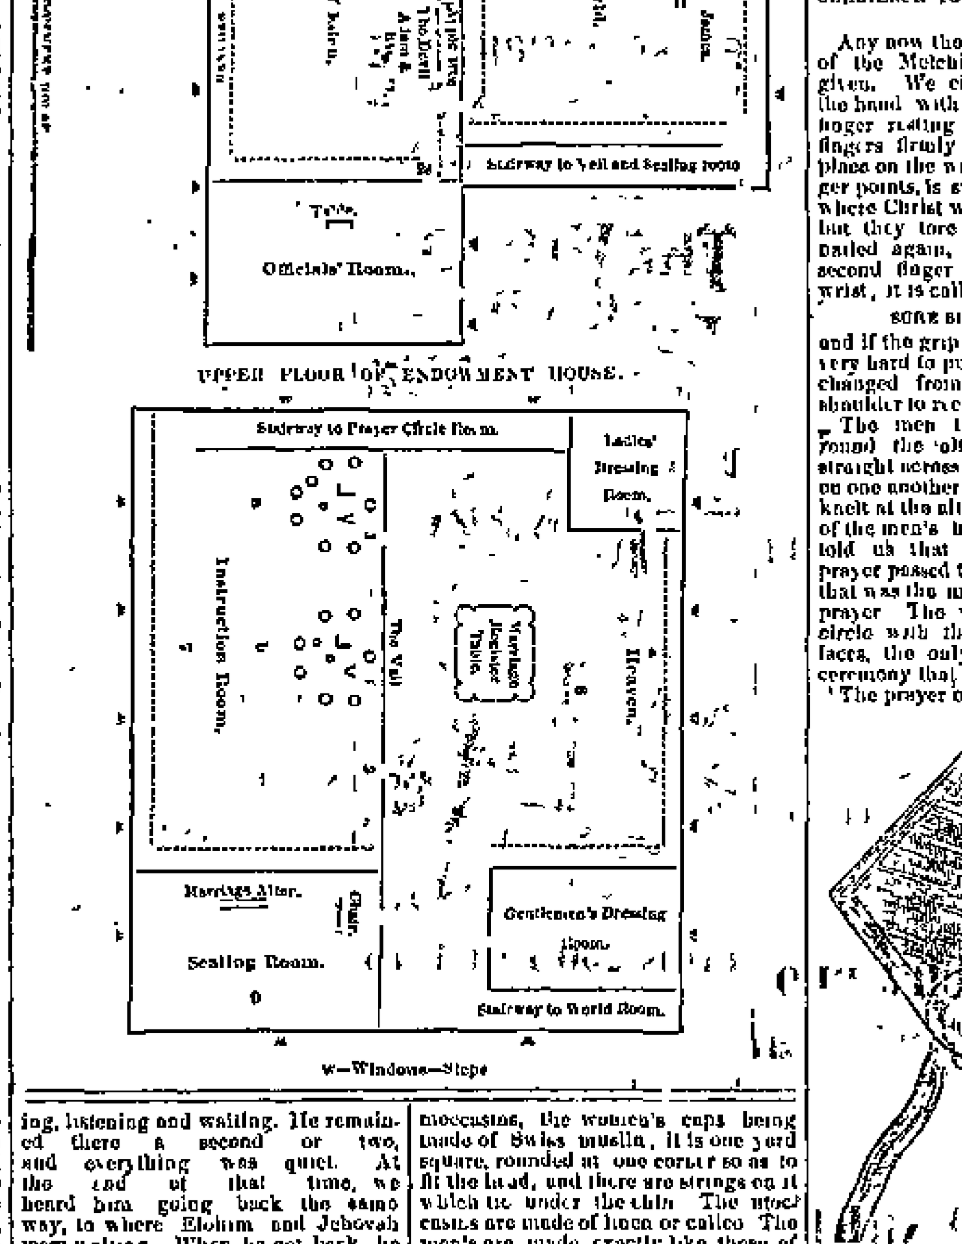

Ans —"Very well, O Lord God"

The man they called Michael then left the prayer circle room and came through the room they called the World, into the Garden of Eden, the door of which was shut that faced the places C and D, where we were standing, listening and waiting. He remained there a second or two, and everything was quiet. At the end of that time, we heard him going back the same way, to where Elohim and Jehovah were waiting. When he got back he said, "I have collected all the elements together and founded an earth, what would'st thou have me do next?" Using the same formula every time they sent him down to the world, they then told him to separate the land from the water, light from darkness, etc., and so they went regularly through the creation, but they always told him to come up and report what he had done

UPPER FLOOR OF ENDOWMENT HOUSE.

When the creation was supposed to be finished, Michael went back and told them it was very fair and beautiful to look upon. Elohim then said to Jehovah, that he thought they had better go down and have a look at it, which they did and agreed with Michael that it was a beautiful place that it seemed a pity it should be of no particular use, but thought it would be a good idea to create man to live in it and cultivate these things

They then came out of the Garden of Eden (which was supposed to have been newly finished) and shutting the door after them came to where we were standing. We were then told to shut our eyes, and Jehovah said to Michael, "Give me a handful of dust and I will create man." We were then told to open our eyes, and we saw a man that he had taken from the crowd, standing beside Jehovah, and to whom Jehovah said. "I will call thee Adam, for thou shalt be the father of all mankind" Jehovah then said it was not good for man to be alone, so he would create a woman and a helpmate for him We were again told to close our eyes, and Adam was requested to go to sleep, which he obligingly did. Jehovah was then supposed to take a rib from Adam's side and form Eve. We were then told to open our eyes, and look upon the handwork of the Lord. When we did, we saw a woman taken from among the crowd who was standing by Adam's side. Jehovah said he would call the woman Eve, because she would be the mother of all mankind.

THE DOOR OF THE GARDEN OF EDEN

was then opened, and we all marched in with our little bundles, (the men going first as they always take precedence,) and we ranged ourselves round the room on benches. The four sides of this room are painted in imitation of trees, flowers, birds, wild beasts, etc. (The artist who painted the room was evidently more acquainted with whitewashing than painting) The ceiling was painted blue, dotted over with golden stars; in the centre of it was the sun, a little farther along, the moon, and all around were the stars In each corner, was a Masonic emblem. In one corner is a compass, in another the square, the remaining two were the level and the plumb On the east side of the room, next the door, was a painted apple tree, and in the northeast part of the room was a small wooden altar.

After we had seated ourselves, Jehovah told Adam and Eve that they could eat of every tree in the garden except of this particular apple tree, for on the day that they ate of that they should surely die.

EATING THE APPLE.

He then took his departure, and immediately after in came a very lively gentleman, dressed in a plain black morning suit, with a little apron on, a most fiendish expression on his face and joyfully rubbing his hands This gentleman was supposed to be "the Devil" Certainly his appearance made the supposition quite easy (by the bye, I have since seen that same gentleman administering the Sacrament in the Tabernacle on Sundays). He went up to Eve and remarked that it was a very beautiful place, and that the fruit was so nice, would she like to taste one of those apples She demurred a little, and said she was told not to, and therefore mustn't. But he pretended to pluck one of the painted apples and give it to her, and she pretended to eat it. He then told her to ask Adam to have some, and she did. Adam objected strongly to tasting, knowing the penalty, but Eve eventually overcame his scruples, saying: "Oh, my dear, they're so nice, you haven't any idea, and that nice old gentleman here (pointing to the Devil) says that he can recommend them, and you need not be afraid of what Jehovah says."

Adam consented, and immediately after he said, "Oh, what have I done, and how foolish I was to listen to you" He then said that he could see himself, and that they had no clothes on, and they must sew some fig leaves together. Every one then made a dive for his apron out of the little bundles This apron is a square half yard of green silk with nine fig leaves worked on it in brown sewing silk. A voice was then heard calling for Adam, who pretended to hide, when in came Jehovah. He gave Adam a good scolding, but finally told him that he would give him certain instructions, whereby he would have a chance to regain the presence of his Father and God after he was driven out into the world These instructions consisted of grips, &c., and the garments he wore would protect him from all evil (Mormons say of these garments that the pattern was revealed direct from heaven to Joseph Smith, and are the same as were originally worn by Adam)

They then put on their caps and moccasins, the women's caps being made of Swiss muslin, it is one yard square, rounded at one corner so as to fit the head, and there are strings on it which tie under the chin The moccasins are made of linen or calico The men's are made exactly like those of pastry cooks, with a bow on the right side. I should here mention, before I go further, that Bathsheba Smith and one of the priests enacted the parts of Adam and Eve, and so stood sponsors for the rest of us, who were individually supposed to be Adams and Eves

THE ENDOWMENT OATHS.

They then proceeded to give us the first grip of the Aaronic or Lesser Priesthood, which consists in putting the thumb on the knuckle of the index finger, and clasping the hands round We were then made to swear "To obey the laws of the Mormon Church and all they enjoin, in preference to those of the United States" The penalty for revealing this grip and oath, is that, you will have your throat cut from ear to ear, and your tongue torn from your mouth, and the sign of the penalty is drawing the hand with the thumb pointing towards the throat, sharply across and bringing the arm to the level of the square and with the hand upraised to Heaven, swearing to abide the same.

MORE TOMFOOLERY.

We were then driven out of this into the room called the World, where there were three men standing at a small altar on the east side of the room, who were supposed to represent Peter, James and John, Peter standing in the centre He was supposed to have the keys of heaven Men representing (or trying to) the different religious sects then came in and presented their views and said they wanted to try and save those fallen children In doing this they could not refrain from exaggerating and coarsely satirizing the different sects they represented. Previous to their coming in, however, Peter had presented to us the gospel of Christ—at least he told us that Christ had come to die for the original sin, but that we had got to work out our own salvation, and that in the last days a prophet should be raised up to save all those that would believe in his divine mission, consequently these different representatives were told that their doctrines did not suit the people and that there was something wanting in their faith and so they could go. Then the Devil came in and tried to allure the people, and bustling up to the altar, Peter said to him "Hallo, Mr Devil, how do you do to-day? It's a very fine day isn't it? What have you come after?" The Devil replied that he didn't seem to take to any of these so-called Christian religions, why didn't they quit bothering after anything of the kind, and live a life of pleasure, etc However he was told to go and that quickly

POLYGAMY ENJOINED.

Peter then gave the second grip of the Aaronic or Lesser Priesthood, which consists of putting the thumb between the knuckles of the index and second fingers and clasping the hand around. The penalty for revealing this is to be sawn asunder, and our members cast into the sea. The sign of the penalty was drawing the hand sharply across the middle of the body To receive that grip we had to put on our robes, which consisted of a long straight piece of cloth reaching to our feet, doubled over and gathered very full on the shoulder and round the waist. There was also a long narrow piece of cloth tied around the waist called "the sash" It was placed on the right shoulder to receive this grip. The people wear their aprons over it. The men then took the oath of chastity and the women the same; they don't consider polygamy at all unchaste, but said that it was as Heaven ordained law, and that a man to be exalted in the world to come must have more than one wife. The women then took the oath of obedience to their husbands, having to look up to them as their gods It is not possible for a woman to go to Christ, except through her husband.

Then a man came in and said that the Gospel (which during those few minutes' intervals had lain dormant for 1,800 years) had been again restored to earth, and that an angel had revealed it to a young boy named Joseph Smith, and that all the gifts, blessings and prophecies of old had been restored with it, and this last revelation was to be called the Latter-day Dispensation The priests pretended joyfully to accept this, and said it was the very thing they were in search of, nothing else having had the power to satisfy them.

MORE SIGNS AND GRIPS

They then proceeded to give us the first grip of the Melchizedek or Higher Priesthood, which is said to be the same that Christ held The thumb is placed on the knuckle of the index finger, and the index finger is placed straight along the palm of the hand, while the lower part of the hand is clasped with the remaining fingers. The robe for this grip was changed from the right to the left shoulder We were then made to swear to avenge the death of Joseph Smith, the martyr, together with that of his brother, Hyrum, on this American nation, and that we would teach our children and and children's children to do so The penalty for this grip and oath was disembowelment.

We were then marched into the northeast room (the men, of course, always going first) designated the prayer circle room We were here made to take an oath of

OBEDIENCE TO THE MORMON PRIESTHOOD

Any now the highest or grand grip of the Melchizedek priesthood was given. We clasped each other round the hand with the point of the index finger resting on the wrist, and little fingers firmly linked together The place on the wrist where the index finger points, is supposed to be the place where Christ was nailed to the cross, but they tore out and he had to be nailed again, and so you place your second finger beside the index on the wrist, it is called the

SURE SIGN OF THE NAIL,

and if the grip is properly given, it is very hard to pull apart. The robe was changed from the left to the right shoulder to receive this grip.

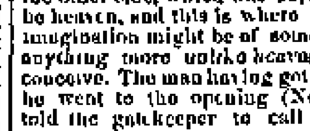

The men then formed a circle round the altar, linking their arms straight across and placed their hands on one another's shoulders The priest knelt at the altar and took hold of one of the men's hands and prayed He told us that the electric current of prayer passed through that circle and that was the most efficacious kind of prayer The women stood outside the circle with their veils covering their faces, the only time throughout the ceremony that they did so

The prayer over, they all trooped up the staircase on the north side of the house, into the room called the Instruction Room, where the people sat down on benches on the west side of the room. Facing them about midway between floor and ceiling was a wooden beam, that went across the room from north to south, and from which was suspended a dirty looking piece of what was once white calico This was called "the Vail," and is supposed to be in imitation of the one in Solomon's Temple. On this vail are marks like those on the garments, together with extra holes for putting the arms through, and a hole at the top to speak through. But before going through the vail, we received a general outline of the instructions we had received down stairs. This over, the priest took a man to the vail to one of the openings (marked 1.) where he knocked with a small wooden mallet that hung on the wooden support. A voice on the other side the vail (it was supposed to be Peter's) asked who was there, when the priest answering for the man said, "Adam having been faithful desires to enter" The priest then led the man up to the west side of the vail, where he had to put his hands through and clasp the man or Peter (to whom he whispered his new name, and the only one he ever tells, for they must never tell their celestial names to their wives, although the wives must tell theirs to their husbands) through the holes in the vail

A WOMAN'S CAP AND MOCCASIN

MAN'S CAP.

He was then allowed to go through to the other side, which was supposed to be heaven, and this is where a strong imagination might be of some use, for anything more unlike heaven, I can't conceive. The man having got through, he went to the opening (No 2) and told the gatekeeper to call for the woman he was about to marry, telling him her name She then stepped up to the vail where the marks "B" are They couldn't see each other, but put their hands through the openings, one of their hands on each other's shoulder and the other around the waist. (The marks on the plan at the sides are for the arms, and all the marks in the plan on the vail are exactly as they are in the Endowment House. The top round mark is the place where they spoke through, and the square compass and stone correspond with the marks on the garments; the two bottom marks were where the feet were put through) With the arms so fixed, the knees were placed within each other, the feet of course being the same, the woman's given name was then whispered through the vail, then her new and celestial name, then the priestess who stood by to instruct the women told them to repeat after a most disgusting formula or oath. I cannot remember it all thoroughly, but what I do consists of "the heart and the liver, the belly and the thighs, the marrow and the bones" Th[illegible] of the Melchizedek priesthood was then given through the vail.

They then released their hold of each other, and the priestess taking the woman to opening No. 2, knocked the same as they did at the men's entrance, and the gate keeper having asked "Who is there?" and the priestess having replied, "Eve, having been faithful in all things, desires to enter," Eve was accordly ushered into heaven.

MORMON THEOLOGY EXPLAINED

Before I go farther, I must tell how they believe the entrance into heaven is to be gained on the morning of the resurrection. Peter will call up the men and the women, (for it is not possible for a woman to be resurrected or exalted, or to be made a Queen in heaven, unless some man takes pity on her and raises her). If the marks on the garments are found to correspond with those on the vail, (the dead are buried in the whole paraphernalia,) if you can give the grips and tokens, and your new name, and are dressed properly in your robes, why, then, one has a sure permit to heaven, and will pass by the angels, (who they suppose are to be only ministering servants,) to a more exalted glory; the more wives they have, they think, the higher their glory will be.

THE SEALING PROCESS.

To resume: After we got through, we saw Joseph F. Smith sitting at a table recording the names of those who were candidates for marriage. He wrote the names in a book (the existence of which marriage register this truthful apostle has since denied, so that a polygamous marriage might not be found out) and then he wrote the two names on a slip of paper, to be taken into the sealing room to the officiating priest, so that he might know whom he was marrying After having given this slip of paper to the priest (Daniel H. Wells), we knelt at a little wooden altar, (they are all alike in the Endowment House) He then asks the man if he is willing to take the woman to wife, and the woman if she is willing to take him for a husband. They both having answered yes, he tells the man that he must look to God, but the woman must look to her husband as her God, for if he lives his religion, the spirit of God will be in him, and she must therefore yield him unquestioning obedience, for he is as a god unto her, and then concludes by saying that he having authority from on high, to bind and loose here upon earth, and whatsoever he binds here, shall be bound in heaven, seals the man and woman

FOR TIME AND ALL ETERNITY

He then tells the man and woman to kiss each other across the altar, the man kneeling on the north side and the woman on the south, and so it is finished. Sometimes they have witnesses, sometimes not, if they think any trouble may arise from a marriage or that the woman is inclined to be a little perverse, they have no witnesses, neither do they give marriage certificates, and if occasion requires it, and it is to shield any of their polygamous brethren from being found out, they will positively swear that they did not perform any marriage at all so that the women in this Church have but a very poor outlook for being considered honorable wives

When the marriage ceremony was over we came out of the "sealing room" and I crossed "Heaven" into the ladies' dressing room, where, after having dressed and my husband paid the fees, we took our departure, together with that of the 'Holy Spirit.'

RESTRICTIONS

It was half past three p m when we left, I having gone there at eight o'clock in the morning. You can probably imagine how fatigued one feels, after listening patiently all the time to their incessant talking Certainly at the end of the time one feels more like taking in nourishment than listening to the prompting of the 'Holy Spirit.' I should perhaps have remarked before that the priests, when going through the House, wear their ordinary clothing, and come straight into the 'House of the Lord" with their dirty top boots on, as though they had just come off a farm, while we poor sinners were obliged to walk in our stocking feet lest the floor should be defiled

The little addition attached to the main building on the west side, and in which the font is, is used for rebaptizing people before they can be allowed to go through the house, and is quite a separate affair from the washing and anointing, people are generally baptized a day or two before they go through the house I was baptized the night before On this same evening I was told that as I was going through the "House of the Lord" on the following day, I must pay the very strictest attention to everything I should see and hear, as it would be for my benefit hereafter I was obedient in that respect, for I remember everything that happened as vividly, as though it were yesterday, and if it has not been for my benefit, I hope that this article may prove of some use in warning and enlightening people, as to jargon and mummery that goes on in that most sacred "House of the Lord"

Stock Operations That Pay.

The past few weeks have been prolific of immense percentages of profits at the New York Exchanges, by the careful use of moderate sums in well manipulated stock transactions, which refurnishes legitimate gain on capital invested according to correct business principles. Great activity prevails in the market The safest and most successful method for operating in a regular way is in Financial Union by the Protective System of dealing in stocks, which affords absolute guarantees that cannot possibly be assured otherwise. The Vast aggregates on the sales of shares that have recently attained such mighty proportions, have been chiefly promoted by the infusion of this new element, which has produced results surprising to all. The conservative basis of this system is its great safety. To be sure of gaining the large profits that accrue so quickly in stock movements, there must be reasonable protection against sweeping risks This is why the protective system excels all. On Monday three professors in New York each invested $[illegible] in Lake Shore stock by the Financial Union System, and on Thursday closed the operation with a net profit of $[illegible] for each investor Tuesday a bank cashier in Philadelphia put $[illegible] in Protective Options on Northwestern stock, and on Saturday closed the contract with $[illegible] profit Early in the previous week two merchants in Boston united their capital and invested $[illegible] in Michigan Central, and 10 days afterwards they acknowledged the receipt of $[illegible] profits. The last week in July five farmers in Central New York invested $[illegible] each in Financial Unions on St Paul stock, and on Thursday, the [illegible] of August, they closed the deal and divided $[illegible] equally between them A lady in one of the departments in Washington used $[illegible] for two weeks in Protectives on Western Union and Lake Shore stocks, and made a clean profit of $[illegible]. On Saturday a prominent Pennsylvania politician invested $1,500 in Delaware, Lackawanna and Western and Michigan Central stock and in five days drew out of the market with $[illegible] profit. A large brewer in St Louis put $[illegible] in Protectives on St Paul and Northwestern stocks, and in fifteen days afterwards closed with a gain of $[illegible]. These are samples of what has been accomplished in Financial Union by the Protective System of operating in stocks when good advice has been followed. With the present activity the prospects for gain in the near future are more favorable, as the operations are equally as good for catching the profits from fluctuations up or down as they occur. Amounts from $25 to $2,000 or more can be invested with proportionate success by the Financial Union System in regular sales, that leave the control of funds in the hands of investors, with a definite knowledge at all times of just what stock their money is on so that they can see at a glance what their profits are at any hour of the day by referring to market quotations All operators are secured of straightforward treatment by the Financial Union System Orders filled and information furnished by Messrs. [illegible] & Co., Bankers and Brokers, No. 10 Broad Street, New York City

Regular Independent Incomes,

Free from business troubles, are secured by prudent investments in stocks. From $25 to $[illegible] in the new Mutual Capitalization System, pays handsome profits. Anybody can successfully operate by this new method, and receive a pro rata division of the aggregate profits secured by great concentration of capital A Chicago bank cashier made $[illegible] in a capitalization of $[illegible]. A Milwaukee brewer netted $[illegible] from an investment of $[illegible] during the month of May. A Savannah gentleman netted $[illegible] from three capitalizations. The stock market just now is in a condition to realize large profits by safe and judicious investments New circular, "Rules for Success," and invaluable information to every investor mailed free. All kinds of stocks and bonds bought and sold by ALLEN, BROWN & Co., Bankers and Brokers, 34 & 36 Broad street, New York.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative,

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined

It is not stimulant nor exciting, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful

Price $[illegible] bottle Four times the quantity, $10 It will not disappoint you. Try a bottle. To be had of Moore Allen & Co, Salt Lake City, or Dr A. E. Mintie & Co 11 Kearney street, San Francisco

BOISE CITY.

Doings at the Capital City of Idaho—The Races, Railroad Building, Etc.

[Correspondence Tribune]

BOISE CITY, Sept. 21, 1879

The near approach of race week, the great annual event of Boise, is observable in the large number of new faces to be seen on our streets. The races this year promise to be the most exciting ever held on the track of the Agricultural Park Association About $4,000 is offered in purses by the Association, and several private races will come off The attendance will be much larger than last year, and our city will reap a goodly harvest for its investment. We have one of the finest mile tracks in America and some of the best stock, which with the many entries of horses from Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, and portions of Idaho, will make this event one of the liveliest in the annals of Boise.

The influx of new comers has been so great this season that houses are in great demand Hotels and boarding houses are doing a rushing business, and every kind of a shelter commands a good figure. As fast as a house is built a dozen are clamoring for its possession. Buildings are being erected in every direction, and from present appearances the improvements made to our city for 1879 will reach nearly $150,000.

The new brick store of Pinkham & Perrault is receiving a handsome galvanized iron cornice, and is considered the handsomest one in the city When finished, it will be filled with a heavy stock of hardware, harness and saddlery, which is now being laid in by Mr. Pinkham in San Francisco.

C. W. Moore's new residence is assuming definite proportions, and will be the finest in the Territory.

Dr Burgis is building a neat two-story residence in the northern suburbs of the city.

Sergeant Light, of the U. S Signal Service, is also commencing the erection of a handsome cottage.

The Grand Lodge I O. G T will hold its annual meeting at Good Templars Hall on November 25th, and expect to have a general, good time on that date.

The recent Indian scare in the Weiser country has proven to be an exaggeration Col Bernard promptly left for the scene, and reports that only a handful of Indians were seen.

Lieutenant Patten, of the 21st Infantry, is now Quartermaster of Ft. Boise, vice Ward, who is to be transferred to the Signal Service at Washington

It is reported that Col Green will again take command of Ft. Boise.

The news of the letting of the tie contract for the Oregon Pacific R. R has been received with elation by our citizens, and we anxiously await the coming of spring, to see the work commenced in earnest.
